Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

Under current law, a school district resident may object to a school board's use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name by filing a complaint with the state superintendent of public instruction (state superintendent). If a complaint is received, the state superintendent must hold a hearing on the complaint, at which the school board has the burden of proving by clear and convincing evidence that the use of the race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name does not promote discrimination, pupil harassment, or stereotyping. However, the state superintendent does not have to hold a hearing if a school board demonstrates that the use of a nickname, logo, mascot, or team name relates to a specific federally recognized American Indian tribe and the specific tribe has approved the school board's use of the nickname, logo, mascot, or team name.

Currently, if the state superintendent finds that the use of the race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name promotes discrimination, pupil harassment, or stereotyping, the state superintendent must order the school board to terminate its use of the nickname, logo, mascot, or team name within 12 months after issuance of the order. However, the state superintendent may extend the amount of time a school board has to comply with an order to terminate the use of a nickname, logo, mascot, or team name under certain circumstances. A school board that uses a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name in violation of an order is subject to a forfeiture of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 for each day that it violates the order.

This substitute amendment makes various changes to the complaint process for objecting to a school board's use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name. First, under the substitute amendment, a complaint to object to the use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name must include the signatures of at least the number of school district residents that is equal to ten percent of the school district's membership and the signatures must be obtained within the 120-day period before the complaint is filed. Second, the substitute amendment requires the division of hearings and appeals, rather than the state superintendent, to hold a hearing on a complaint objecting to the use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name. Third, the substitute amendment reverses the burden of proof at a hearing challenging the use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name so that the burden is on the school district resident to demonstrate that the nickname, logo, mascot, or team name promotes discrimination, pupil harassment, or stereotyping. Fourth, the substitute amendment allows the state superintendent to forego a hearing if a school board demonstrates that a federally recognized American Indian tribe that has historical ties to this state has, under an agreement with the school board, approved the school board's use. Fifth, the substitute amendment prohibits the state superintendent from promulgating a rule that creates a presumption of what constitutes a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name that promotes discrimination, pupil harassment, or stereotyping. Sixth, the substitute amendment prohibits the enforcement of a decision or order to terminate the use of a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name that is based on a complaint filed before the effective date of the substitute amendment, including the collection or assessment of any forfeiture based on such decision or order. Finally, the substitute amendment prohibits a school district from being a member of an interscholastic athletic association that bars a member from using a race-based nickname, logo, mascot, or team name, unless the use violates a decision or order to terminate the use and the decision or order is issued after the effective date of the substitute amendment.
